TRADING UPDATE

The Board of Noventa provides the following update to its operations:

The operational enhancements and re-commissioning of the Marropino plant took place during October and the Directors believe that targeted capacity will be achieved, as forecast, in the first quarter of 2008. The final beneficiation plant is complete and operating in line with expectations. The impact of a slight delay in the arrival of equipment has been compensated for and the mine anticipates delivering to the port this year the 100,000 pounds of tantalum concentrate forecast. Our first consignment of product was shipped in October while delivery of the remaining material will be impacted by the arrival of suitable carriers at the port of loading.

An exclusive joint venture agreement was concluded in November with our partners in respect of all Morganite extracted at Marropino for the life of the mine. This joint venture provides the Company with the marketing and distribution expertise of the leading producer of coloured gemstone jewellery in the world.
